This chapter contains Puerto Rico’s general animal protection and related statutes with an effective date on or before September 1, 2023. It begins with a detailed overview of the provisions contained in these laws, followed by the full text of the statutes themselves. The various provisions are organized into categories with the relevant part of each statute italicized.

Puerto Rico may employ similar provisions within other non-animal-specific criminal and civil statutes, may have other more specific statutes in addition to those included, and may have a variety of animal-related regulations in effect. Because the law is continually evolving, always review an official source for the most current language of any statute.

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

1. DEFINITION OF “ANIMAL”

5 L.P.R.A. § 1660. Definitions.

For the purposes of this chapter, the following terms shall have the meaning stated below:

- (a) “Abandonment”.—Means the voluntary dereliction or remissness, whether temporary or permanent, of the responsibilities of the animal’s custodian.
- (b) “Animal”.—Means any mammal, bird, reptile, amphibian, fish, cetacean, and any other superior phyla animal in captivity or under the control of any person, or any animal protected by Federal or Commonwealth laws or by municipal ordinances.
- (c) “Stray Animal”.—An animal with no known custodian.
- (d) “Safety Collar”.—Means a collar that applies pressure to the neck of the animal when the animal pulls in a direction against the will of the custodian, or when the custodian pulls to temporarily restrain the animal’s movement.
- (e) “Continuous Care”.—Means the preventive care that a prudent person would minister on an animal to prevent injuries, diseases or permanent severe or deadly conditions.
- (f) “Minimal Care”.—Means sufficient care to preserve the health and welfare of an animal, except for emergencies or circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the custodian. This includes but is not limited to the requirements stated below:
 - (1) Quantity and quality of enough food to allow for the growth or maintenance of the normal body weight of the animal.
 - (2) Open and proper access to drinking water, at a temperature that is fit for drinking and in sufficient amount to satisfy the needs of the animal.
 - (3) Access to a stable, house or any other structure able to protect the animal from bad weather conditions, as well as an appropriate place to sleep that protects the animal from excessive cold, heat and humidity.
 - (4) Being provided with the veterinary care that a prudent person would deem necessary to protect the animal from suffering; this includes vaccination and preventive care.
 - (5) Continuous access to an area. Continuous access to an area is:
 - (A) For the animal to have an adequate space to exercise as necessary for its health. Inadequate spaces lead to weakness, stress or abnormal patterns of behavior.
 - (B) A temperature agreeable with the animal’s health, in attention of its natural habitat.
 - (C) Proper ventilation.
 - (D) Regular daylight cycles, whether by means of natural or artificial lighting.
 - (E) A clean environment, free from excessive waste or other pollutants that might affect the animal’s health.
- (g) “Commercial Animal Breeder”.—A natural or juridical person engaged in breeding animals for sale.
- (h) “Provisional Custody”.—Means the custody granted by a judge in a custody or possession deprivation action, or when a protection order is issued against the animal’s custodian, for a defined term, subject to review until the conclusion of the proceedings.
- (i) “Emergency”.—Means any situation the animal may be experiencing which poses an imminent risk to its safety, health or bodily integrity.

- (j) “Euthanasia”.—Means a humane method which inflicts a quick and painless death.
- (k) “Custodian”.—Means the natural or juridical person who has the control, custody, possession or ownership over an animal.
- (l) “Bodily Injury”.—Means physical trauma, or a loss of or decrease in functions or pain not consistent with reasonable training and management techniques.
- (m) “Severe Bodily Injury”.—Means a bodily injury that poses the risk of death or which causes disfigurement, a prolonged health condition, or a prolonged loss and/or disability in terms of the functions of an extremity or a bodily organ.
- (n) “Abuse”.—Means all acts or omissions of a person, whether or not the custodian, which cause or places the animal at risk of sustaining harm to its health and to its bodily and/or emotional integrity. The necessary efforts contemplated in Act No. 241 of 1999, known as the New Puerto Rico Wildlife Act, and in Regulation No. 6765 of March 12, 2004, as amended, of the Department of Natural and Environmental Resources, are hereby excluded from this definition.
- (o) “Negligence”.—Means a kind of abuse consisting in the dereliction of the duties or the remissness in exercising the powers of adequately providing minimal and continuous care to an animal; to be remiss in the duties of providing care and supervision.
- (p) “Police Officer” or “Animal Control Officer”.—Includes any member of a force established under any law to discharge police functions, duties or powers under the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. This includes, without the listing being construed as a limitation, the members of the Puerto Rico Police, municipal police officers, the members of the Rangers Corps of the Department of Natural and Environmental Resources, the inspectors of the Department of Consumer Affairs, and the inspectors of the Department of Health and the Commonwealth Animal Control Office (OECA, Spanish acronym).
- (q) “Protection Order”.—Means any mandate issued in writing under the seal of a Court, whereby measures are pronounced against an animal abuser so that he/she abstains from engaging in or carrying out certain acts or conducts that constitute abuse and/or neglect.
- (r) “Person”.—Means an individual, corporation, trust, association, society or any other legal entity, whether natural or juridical.
- (s) “Possession”.—Means to have the physical custody or to exercise dominion or control over an animal.
- (t) “Imminent Risk”.—Means any situation that endangers the health, safety, or physical or emotional welfare of an animal.
- (u) “Unnecessary Suffering”.—Means to cause a suffering that is not necessary to ensure the safety, health, or welfare of the animal or other beings within its environment.
- (v) “Torture”.—Means an action taken with the prime purpose of inflicting or prolonging pain.
- (w) “Physical Trauma”.—Means fractures, cuts, burns, bruises or other bodily injuries and/or wounds in the animal’s body.
- (x) “Veterinarian”.—Means a person that holds a degree as Doctor in Veterinary Medicine, licensed by the Veterinarian Examining Board, and a member in good standing of the Veterinarians’ College.

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

5 L.P.R.A. § 1664. Abandonment of an Animal.

- (a) If a person willfully, knowingly, carelessly or with criminal negligence, leaves an animal in a location with the intention of dereliction, said person is committing the crime of abandoning an animal.
- (b) Abandonment of an animal is a fourth-degree felony that entails the punishment of imprisonment ranging from six (6) months and one (1) day to three (3) years.
 - (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand (1,000) to five thousand (5,000) dollars.
- (c) If, as a consequence of the abandonment of an animal, the animal sustains severe bodily injury or dies, the crime shall be deemed to be a third-degree felony that entails the punishment of imprisonment ranging from three (3) years and one (1) day to eight (8) years.
 - (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from three thousand (3,000) to eight thousand (8,000) dollars.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1665. Confinement of Animals.

- (a) Any person with the control over an animal shall provide the animal with an adequate space within the property of the custodian that allows for free movement.
- (b) Any person who confines, binds or otherwise limits the movement of an animal, and in so doing, causes unnecessary suffering, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor that entails the imposition of an individual fine, not to exceed ninety (90) days, a fine or a daily punishment by community service not to exceed ninety (90) days or home confinement or house arrest in calendar days up to ninety (90) days, or a combination of these punishments, which shall sum up to not more than ninety (90) days. Provided, further, that to walk the animal, a collar and leash is mandatory in order to control the animal, in pertinent cases, without causing harm or suffering, except for animals weighing over 60 pounds, which require a “safety collar.”
- (c) Instances of recidivism in this crime shall be punished by imprisonment for up to six (6) months.
- (d) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from five hundred (500) to two thousand (2,000) dollars. Thereafter, for each instance of recidivism, the sum of the last fine imposed by the Court shall double.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1666. Abuse by Negligence.

- (a) A person shall be deemed to be negligent if said person knowingly, carelessly or negligently fails to provide minimal care to an animal in the possession of said person.
- (b) Neglecting animals constitutes a misdemeanor that entails a fine of up to five thousand (5,000) dollars or imprisonment for up to six (6) months, or both penalties, in the discretion of the Court.

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

- (c) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from five hundred (500) to two thousand (2,000) dollars.
- (d) A person is negligent if he/she runs with his/her car over a dog, cat, horse and/or head of cattle and does not take the necessary measures for the animal to be tended to or, in case of having inflicted death, the necessary measures to have the animal removed, provided he/she is not placing his/her safety at risk. Among the steps to be followed are the following: calling an animal round-up center in the municipality, and if such information should not be available, calling the Police. Any person who fails to comply with this subsection shall be guilty of a misdemeanor that entails the imposition of an individual fine not to exceed ninety (90) days, a fine or a daily punishment by community service not to exceed ninety (90) days or home confinement or house arrest in calendar days for up to ninety (90) days, or a combination of these punishments, which shall sum up to not more than ninety (90) days.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1667. Aggravated Negligence against Animals.

- (a) A person shall be guilty of aggravated negligence when willfully, knowingly, carelessly or with criminal negligence:
 - (1) Fails to provide minimal care to an animal in the possession of said person and failure to provide such care results in severe bodily injury or death of the animal. This crime is typified as a fourth-degree felony that entails the imposition of a punishment by imprisonment ranging from six (6) months and one (1) day to three (3) years.
 - (A) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the penalty shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand (1,000) to three thousand (3,000) dollars.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1668. Animal Abuse.

- (a) A person is guilty of the crime of animal abuse if the person willfully, knowingly, carelessly or with criminal negligence inflicts any bodily injury or suffering on the animal.
- (b) Animal abuse is considered to be a fourth-degree felony that entails the imposition of punishment by imprisonment ranging from six (6) months and one (1) day to three (3) years.
 - (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand (1,000) to three thousand (3,000) dollars.
- (c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (b) of this Section, animal abuse constitutes a third-degree felony that entails the imposition of punishment by imprisonment ranging from three (3) years and one (1) day to eight (8) years if:
 - (1) The person who is committing the crime of animal abuse has been previously convicted of one or more offenses relative to:

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

- (A) Any law concerning animal protection in Puerto Rico or equivalent laws or regulations from any other jurisdiction; or
- (B) Any statute of Puerto Rico concerning domestic violence, child abuse or elderly abuse, or equivalent laws from another jurisdiction; or
- (C) The person knowingly abuses an animal in the immediate presence of a minor. For the purposes of this subclause, a minor is in the immediate presence of an instance of animal abuse if such an instance is seen or directly perceived in any manner by the minor.
 - (i) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from three thousand (3,000) to ten thousand (10,000) dollars.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1669. Third-Degree Animal Abuse.

- (a) A person shall be guilty of the crime of animal abuse in its third-degree felony modality if a person willfully, knowingly, carelessly or with criminal negligence:
 - (1) Inflicts a severe bodily injury; or
 - (2) Inflicts death on an animal.
- (b) This crime entails punishment by imprisonment ranging from three (3) years and one (1) day to eight (8) years.
 - (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from three thousand (3,000) to ten thousand (10,000) dollars.
- (c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this Section, animal abuse shall be typified as a second-degree felony that entails the imposition of punishment by imprisonment ranging from eight (8) years and one (1) day to fifteen (15) years if:
 - (1) The person committing the crime of animal abuse has been previously convicted of one or more offenses relative to:
 - (A) Any law concerning animal protection in Puerto Rico or equivalent laws or regulations from another jurisdiction; or
 - (B) Any statute of Puerto Rico concerning domestic violence, child abuse or elderly abuse, or equivalent laws from another jurisdiction; or
 - (C) The person knowingly abuses an animal in the immediate presence of a minor. For purposes of this subclause, a minor is in the immediate presence of an instance of animal abuse if such an instance is seen or directly perceived in any manner by the minor.
 - (i) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from ten thousand (10,000) to fifteen thousand (15,000) dollars.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1670. Aggravated Animal Abuse.

- (a) A person shall be guilty of the crime of aggravated animal abuse if the person willfully or knowingly:
- (1) Tortures an animal; or
 - (2) Kills an animal under circumstances that show there was malice aforethought or a gross disregard for life.
- (b) Aggravated animal abuse is typified as a second-degree felony that entails punishment by imprisonment for a term of not less than eight (8) years and one (1) day and not more than fifteen (15) years.
- (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from ten thousand (10,000) to twenty thousand (20,000) dollars.
- (c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (b) of this Section, aggravated animal abuse shall be typified as a second-degree felony without the right to alternate benefits other than jail imprisonment if:
- (1) The person committing the crime of animal abuse has been previously convicted of one or more offenses relative to:
 - (A) Any law concerning animal protection in Puerto Rico or equivalent laws or regulations of another jurisdiction; or
 - (B) Any statute of Puerto Rico concerning domestic violence, child abuse or elderly abuse, or equivalent laws from another jurisdiction; or
 - (C) The person knowingly abuses an animal in the immediate presence of a minor. For purposes of this paragraph, a minor shall be in the immediate presence of an instance of animal abuse if such an instance is seen or directly perceived in any manner by the minor.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1672. Transportation

- (a) When transporting or conveying an animal under such conditions or in such a manner or position so as to inflict unnecessary suffering on the animal, under conditions that do not allow for proper ventilation, light or shelter, under which the animal is exposed to excessive heat and cold, bad weather, sun or rain, or without taking the necessary precautions in order for said animal to have enough food and water and proper rest, the person responsible for transporting said animal shall be guilty of a misdemeanor that entails the imposition of a fine of up to five thousand dollars ($5,000) or punishment by imprisonment for up to six (6) months.
- (b) When the animal thus transported sustains an injury for not being properly transported, the crime shall constitute a fourth-degree felony.
- (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand [dollars] ($1,000) to three thousand dollars ($3,000).

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

5 L.P.R.A. § 1674. Poisoning.

- (a) If any person should use any kind of poison, even if he/she hires a third party for such a purpose, without making the necessary provisions to prevent bodily injuries to animals other than pests, he/she shall be accused of a misdemeanor that entails the imposition of an individual fine not to exceed ninety (90) days, a fine or a daily punishment by community service not to exceed ninety (90) days, or home confinement or house arrest in calendar days for up to ninety (90) days, or a combination of these punishments, which shall sum up to not more than ninety (90) days. The fact that the animal has entered his/her premises shall not constitute a defense. Instances of recidivism shall be typified as misdemeanors that entail a fine of up to five thousand (5,000) dollars and/or punishment by imprisonment for up to six (6) months. A subsequent instance of recidivism shall be typified as a fourth-degree felony.
- (b) Poisoning an animal constitutes a fourth-degree felony if:
- (1) An animal ingests the poison laid out without proper precautions and this results in a severe bodily injury of the animal.
 - (A) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand (1,000) to five thousand (5,000) dollars.
- (c) Poisoning an animal is typified as a third-degree felony if:
- (1) There is a willful administration to any animal of any poison or poisonous substance that causes a severe bodily injury or death.
 - (A) If upon conviction under subsection (c), the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from three thousand (3,000) to ten thousand (10,000) dollars.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1676. Euthanasia

- (a) The termination of the life of an animal may only be conducted by a veterinarian or by properly trained personnel under the supervision of a veterinarian, through techniques approved by the AVMA (American Veterinary Medical Association) and complying with the provisions of §§ 2951 et seq. of Title 20; §§ 407 et seq. of Title 20; and §§ 2101 et seq. of Title 24.
- (b) The animal shall be tended to during the entire process, until its death is certified by a veterinarian.
- (c) Any person who violates this section shall be guilty of a third-degree felony.
- (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from three thousand dollars ($3,000) to ten thousand dollars ($10,000).
- (d) Emergency situations. -
- (1) In emergency situations in which the animal is of such a size that the same cannot be transported, the person in charge of or who finds the animal shall call the nearest police station so that an officer may, through police headquarters, directly contact a veterinarian in his/her region. In the event the veterinarian is unable to reach the location, and after a detailed description by the police officer of the condition of the animal, the veterinarian may instruct him/her so that he/she induce a compassionate death by coup de grace. Any unauthorized person who induces the death of an animal shall be guilty of a fourth-degree felony.

- (2) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand dollars ($1,000) to five thousand dollars ($5,000).*

5 L.P.R.A. § 1677. Cosmetic surgeries

(a) Any cosmetic surgery practiced on an animal shall be conducted solely and exclusively by a veterinarian who holds a license and is a Veterinarian College member.

(b) Unauthorized persons who engage in this practice shall be accused of a fourth-degree felony.

- (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand dollars ($1,000) to five thousand dollars ($5,000).*

15 L.P.R.A. § 231. Dog racing prohibited

Any person who holds or participates in the holding of a dog race in Puerto Rico, as well as any person who wages or bets on the result of a dog race, shall incur in a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500), or by imprisonment in jail for a maximum term of six (6) months, or by both penalties, in the discretion of the court.

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

3. ANIMAL FIGHTING

5 L.P.R.A. § 1671. Animal Fights.

- (a) No person shall cause, sponsor, organize, conduct or promote events in which any animal fights, threatens or injures another animal for sport, entertainment, financial gain or any other purpose, except for cockfights, practice which is regulated by §§ 301 et seq. of Title 15.
- (b) For purposes of this Section, a person promotes an event in which an animal fights, threatens or injures another animal for sport, entertainment, financial gain, among others, if the person:
- (1) Is knowingly present or bets in such an event in which an animal fights, threatens or injures another animal for sport, entertainment, financial gain, among others;
 - (2) The custodian trains, transports, possesses, breeds or fits an animal with the intention of involving said animal in an event in which the animal is to fight, threaten or injure another animal for sport, entertainment, financial gain, among others;
 - (3) Allows knowingly for any kind of event in which an animal fights, threatens or injures another animal for sport, entertainment, financial gain, among others, to take place in any location that is owned or controlled by the person, among others;
 - (4) Allows knowingly for an animal used for such an event in which an animal fights, threatens or injures another animal for sport, entertainment, or financial gain, among others, to be maintained, lodged, trained or transported in any place or vehicle owned or controlled by the person;
 - (5) Uses knowingly any means of communication with the purpose of promoting such an event in which an animal fights, threatens or injures another animal for sport, entertainment, financial gain, among others; or
 - (6) Possesses knowingly an animal used to fight, threaten or injure another animal for sport, entertainment, financial gain, among others, or any mechanism intended to reinforce the animal's ability to fight, threaten or injure for sport, entertainment, financial gain, among others.
- (c) Any person who engages in any of the efforts described in this Section shall be accused of inciting or participating in animal fights, which is typified as a second-degree felony.
- (1) If upon conviction under any of its modalities, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from ten thousand (10,000) to twenty-five thousand (25,000) dollars. If the owner of the location is a recidivist, the property shall be seized to the benefit of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.
- (d) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (c) of this Section, the crime shall be typified as a second-degree felony without the right to alternate benefits other than jail imprisonment if:
- (1) The person committing the crime of animal abuse has been previously convicted of one or more offenses relative to:
 - (A) Any law concerning animal protection in Puerto Rico or equivalent laws or regulations from another jurisdiction;

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

- (B) Any statute of Puerto Rico concerning domestic violence, child abuse or elderly abuse, or equivalent laws from another jurisdiction; or*
- (C) The person knowingly carries out any of the activities mentioned in this subsection concerning animal fights in the immediate presence of a minor. For purposes of this subclause, a minor is in the immediate presence of an instance of animal abuse if such an instance is seen or directly perceived in any manner by the minor; or*
- (D) If as a consequence of such a fight, the animal dies.*
- (e) The Puerto Rico Police shall seize all animals, equipment, material and/or money present at the location where the animal fights are held, without distinction as to who is the owner of the materials or the money or who are the animals' custodians. For this action, the procedure established in §§ 1723 et seq. of Title 34, known as the Uniform Seizure Act of 1998, shall be followed.*
- (f) The animals thus seized shall be evaluated by the Department of Health, which shall make an assessment as to the dangerousness of the animals, and should the Department determine that said animals are dangerous, the Department shall dispose of the same by euthanasia practiced by a veterinarian. Otherwise, the Department shall hand them over to a shelter, which shall have full discretion as to whether to accept or reject the animals, with the purpose, if possible, of putting them up for adoption.*

Editor's Note: This section does not contain all state or territorial laws regarding hunting, trapping, and fishing. This section contains only criminal statutes with the primary purpose of preventing individual wild animals from suffering unnecessary pain or suffering.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1675. Traps.

(a) If any person uses any kind of trap or device to catch animals other than pests without taking the necessary precautions to prevent injuries or unnecessary suffering of animals, he/she shall be accused of a misdemeanor that entails the imposition of an individual fine not to exceed ninety (90) days, a fine or a daily punishment by community service not to exceed ninety (90) days or home confinement or house arrest in calendar days for up to ninety (90) days, or a combination of these punishments, which shall sum up to not more than ninety (90) days. Instances of recidivism shall be typified as misdemeanors that shall entail a fine of up to five thousand dollars ($5,000) and/r punishment by imprisonment for up to six (6) months. A subsequent instance of recidivism shall be typified as a fourth-degree felony.

(1) If the trap inflicts severe bodily injury or death, the crime shall be considered to be a fourth-degree felony.

(A) If upon conviction, the accused of a fourth-degree felony qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand [dollars] ($1,000) to three thousand dollars ($3,000).

12 L.P.R.A. § 107d. Illegal acts

The following actions shall be deemed unlawful and subject to penalties as provided below in this chapter:

- (a) To practice sports hunting in Puerto Rico without the corresponding sports hunting license or without the official seasonal stamp, if applicable.
- (b) To practice sports hunting of any wildlife species that has not been designated by regulations as game.
- (c) To introduce, import, own, breed, purchase, sell, exchange, transport or export exotic, harmful, or venomous species without a permit from the Secretary, or with an expired permit. Likewise, using any means of communication, print media, and digital or photographic messaging, as well as placing advertisements on internet webpages for the purpose of facilitating, encouraging, promoting or disclosing any activity intended for this purpose is hereby prohibited.
- (d) Failing to renew the possession, purchase and sale of exotic species permit.
- (e) To purchase or sell wildlife species, their young, nests or parts thereof. This prohibition does not include those exotic species born in captivity in game reserves or breeding places authorized by the Secretary through regulations for the purpose of populating game reserves.
- (f) To practice sports hunting of wild fauna designated by the Secretary as game outside the established hunting season. However, hunting wildlife species for scientific and animal control or educational purposes by persons duly authorized by the Secretary to do so, shall not be deemed unlawful.

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

- (g) To practice sports hunting in Commonwealth Forests or in public land administered by the Department, except in wildlife reserves and those natural reserves where the Secretary determines hunting is a compatible activity. The Secretary, by means of regulation, shall establish the criteria to determine the compatible uses of the natural reserves.
- (h) To hunt for sport a number of birds and animals in excess of the maximum number established for each hunting day or during a stage in their lives or their sex other than those set by the Secretary for each species of game birds or animals.
- (i) To hunt or collect any wildlife species in a number greater than that authorized by the Secretary, or during a stage in their life or their sex, other than that authorized by the latter, in those cases whereby the Secretary has granted a special permit to hunt or collect said species for scientific and animal control purposes.
- (j) To carry, transport or hunt with an unregistered weapon as established below in this chapter.
- (k) To carry or transport any sports hunting weapon outside of the hunting season, be it on the hunter, in the vehicle, or any other means of transportation, including an animal on which the hunter is or on any animal. In case said weapon must be transported for a purpose other than for sports hunting, it shall be required to obtain a written authorization from the Commissioner of the Police Bureau or to hold a valid firearms license, and the weapons must be registered in the Electronic Registry created under the Puerto Rico Weapons Act of 2020, §§ 461 et seq. of Title 25.
- (l) To carry or transport any hunting weapon in public land where hunting has been prohibited, unless with a written permit issued by the Secretary.
- (ll) To establish or operate game reserves without a permit issued by the Secretary.
- (m) To hunt in a game reserve without the proper license or permit issued by the Secretary.
- (n) To hunt in a game reserve any of the species of wild fauna not designated as game by the Secretary through regulations.
- (t) To hunt for sport any species of wild fauna along any public road or at a distance of less than one hundred meters from populated and housing areas, unless the house belongs to the hunter or to a person who has authorized the hunter to hunt within a one hundred meter perimeter.
- (o) To hunt or collect rare or endangered species; to own, transport or sell articles derived from rare or endangered species as designated by the Department.
- (p) To own or hold in captivity any species of wild fauna or game animal except for scientific, educational or recovery purposes, in which case a written authorization must be obtained from the Secretary.
- (q) To hunt in any manner other than that authorized through regulations.
- (r) To operate a business for the purchase and sale of exotic species or to sell exotic species without the proper license or authorization of the Permit Management Office.
- (s) To modify the designated essential critical natural habitat of rare or endangered species without the mitigation plan approved by the Department.
- (t) To modify the natural habitat without a mitigation plan approved by the Department.
- (u) To own, transport, catch or destroy individuals, nests, eggs or the young of wildlife species without the prior authorization of the Secretary. Exempted from this provision are invertebrates and flora found in private lands and those which have not been designated by means of regulations.
- (v) To hunt with any weapon prohibited by this Act or without a permit issued by the Secretary, or using ammunition prohibited by regulations.

12 L.P.R.A. § 107t. Penalties

- (a) Any person who violates any of the provisions of this chapter and the regulations promulgated thereunder, except for the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) and not more than five hundred dollars ($500) per specimen or by a term of imprisonment which shall not exceed six (6) months, or both penalties at the discretion of the court; except when it concerns a harmful or venomous species in which case any person who violates the provisions of this chapter and the regulations promulgated thereunder shall be guilty of a felony and, upon conviction, shall be punished by an obligatory fine of not less than one thousand dollars ($1000) dollars and not more than five thousand dollars ($5000) per specimen, or by a term of imprisonment between six (6) months and one (1) day, and three (3) years, or both penalties at the discretion of the court. Importation for commercial purposes, and the trade of illegal harmful or venomous exotic species, hunting in public or private lands without verifiable authorization from the owner, administrator or person in charge, and any violations of the regulations on vulnerable or endangered species shall be deemed to be felonies and shall be punished by a fine of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) and not more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) per specimen, or by a term of imprisonment of not less than ninety (90) days and not more than three (3) years, or both penalties at the discretion of the court.
- (b) Any person who knowingly furnishes false information or commits fraud when submitting the application for the hunting license provided in § 107j of this title shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) and not more than five hundred dollars ($500).

5 L.P.R.A. § 1678. Protection Orders.

- (a) In all cases in which a person is accused of domestic violence or child abuse, the Court shall, by petition of party, issue a protection order for the petitioner so that he/she be the sole custodian of the animal. The Court shall order the accused to keep far away from the animal and prohibit contact of any kind.
- (b) A violation of the protection order shall be considered to be a fourth-degree felony.
- (1) If upon conviction, the accused qualifies and avails him/herself of serving time on probation or of any alternative method other than jail imprisonment, the punishment shall entail a mandatory fine ranging from one thousand (1,000) to three thousand (3,000) dollars.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1679. Pre-Conviction Provisions.

- (a) When a person has been accused of acts that constitute animal abuse, the Court or the law enforcement officers may, as a precautionary and preventive measure in benefit of the animal, remove or order the provisional removal of the animal while the case is heard. Likewise, the Court may take or order the precautionary measures it deems convenient and necessary for the protection and welfare of the animal, including the issue of a protection order. The animal shall be handed over to the shelter of the municipality of residence of the custodian or to the private organization that intervened in the animal abuse situation, if the organization so requests.
- (b) If after a trial on its merits or a hearing, the existence of abuse against the animal is not proven, the animal shall be returned to its custodian.

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

15. MAXIMUM PENALTIES AND STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

NOTE: some penalties defined in substantive statutes, available in the General Cruelty, Animal Fighting, and Sexual Assault sections of this document.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1673. Animal Abuse by Juridical Entities.

- (a) Any entity, whether engaged or not in animal affairs, that abuses an animal, shall be sanctioned with the same punishments, according to the type of crime as established in this Act.
- (1) Should the entity be found guilty, in addition to the punishments that apply pursuant to this Act, the person who owns the entity thus found guilty may not engage in any animal affairs.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1683. Payments of Fines.

It is hereby established that, if the person convicted should be unable to pay any fine imposed by the Court, the person shall have to serve time in jail, to be computed on the basis of fifty dollars ($50.00) per day.

33 L.P.R.A. § 4644. Classification.

Crimes are classified as misdemeanors and felonies.

A misdemeanor entails an individual fine of up to five thousand dollars ($5,000) or imprisonment for up to ninety (90) days. A felony, in all its classifications which are specified below, comprises all other crimes.

A felony entails imprisonment for more than six (6) months and, according to the corresponding penalty, is classified in four (4) degrees, as follows:

- (a) First degree felony.— The penalty for which is imprisonment for a term of ninety-nine (99) years.
- (b) Second degree felony.— The penalty for which is imprisonment for a term fluctuating between eight (8) years and one (1) day and fifteen (15) years. Second degree murder, sexual assault, aggravated kidnapping, child kidnapping and aggravated robbery, when damage is inflicted against the victim or if it takes place in the domicile of the victim, shall be severe second degree felonies with a penalty of imprisonment of between fifteen (15) years and one day and twenty-five (25) years.
- (c) Third degree felony.— The penalty for which is imprisonment fluctuating between three (3) years and one (1) day and eight (8) years.
- (d) Fourth degree felony.— The penalty for which is imprisonment fluctuating between six (6) months and one day and three (3) years.

However, other types of penalty besides imprisonment may be imposed for felonies and misdemeanors.

The felonies typified in special laws maintain the classification of felony and the corresponding penalty if they entail a penalty of imprisonment for more than six (6) months or a fine of more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), unless otherwise provided by law.

Misdemeanors typified in special laws maintain the classification of misdemeanor and the corresponding penalty if they entail a penalty that does not exceed six (6) months or a fine that does not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000), or both penalties.

33 L.P.R.A. § 4727. Statute of limitations.

Criminal actions shall expire:

- (a) In ten (10) years for severe second-degree felonies.
- (b) In five (5) years for second- to fourth-degree felonies, and for felonies as classified in the special law or in the repealed Penal Code.
- (c) In one (1) year for misdemeanors, except those arising from infractions against fiscal laws and all misdemeanors committed by public officers or employees in the performance of their duties, which shall expire in five (5) years.
- (d) Concealment and conspiracy crimes prescribe in ten (10) years when committed in relation to murder in all its modalities.
- (e) The provisions set forth in subsections (a), (b), and (c) of this section shall not apply to special laws in which crimes have a longer statute of limitations than the one proposed herein.

ANIMAL PROTECTION LAWS OF PUERTO RICO

16. LAW ENFORCEMENT POLICIES

5 L.P.R.A. § 1661. Responsibilities and Coordination with Other Agencies.

In order to guarantee the fullest compliance with this chapter, the municipalities of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico must comply with the provisions of the Autonomous Municipalities Act, §§ 4001 et seq. of Title 21, and these shall assign top priority to handling situations that come to their attention and which involve abuse and/or negligence of stray animals. The municipalities, in coordination with the Central Municipal Affairs Office (OCAM, Spanish acronym), shall be under the obligation to assign top priority to handling situations that involve the abuse of stray animals, as well as round-ups and care. OCAM shall coordinate efforts with other government and private agencies when services are required in relation to the identification, prevention or treatment of persons involved in acts of violence against animals. Such coordination shall include joint planning, public education and information services, use of one another's facilities, training sessions and joint activities for the betterment of the personnel and of case evaluation and management.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1662. Emergency Management.

When an animal is in an emergency situation, it shall be the responsibility of the municipality where the animal is located, to provide the necessary and adequate assistance to the Police and to the personnel of the government and/or private agency intervening in the emergency. All municipalities are under the obligation to develop a plan covering animal emergency management, round-ups and protection, under penalty of not being provided with funds from the Commonwealth Animal Control Office, or of having such funds cancelled. Such a management plan shall be drafted within one (1) year from the date of effectiveness of this act.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1663. Coordination and Cooperation with Non-Government Organizations.

The Government of Puerto Rico, its public corporations, departments, agencies and instrumentalities and officials shall take the initiative to:

- (a) Facilitate and maintain continuous efforts to incorporate the views of [non-governmental] and community entities into the various aspects of their services;*
- (b) Foster the participation of representatives from these entities, as well as persons whom these organizations have served, in the planning, development, offering and evaluation of services pertaining to persons involved in animal abuse;*
- (c) Establish collaboration agreements with the [non-governmental] organizations that provide projects to render services to animals and/or families involved in violence against or negligence of animals, as well as to abusive youths and adults. These agreements may be established but are not to be limited to the following areas: design and establishment of procedures conducive to promoting and guaranteeing animal welfare; protection and safety plans; support services for the prevention and management of family violence for persons, families, communities, and the Island;*

19. RESTITUTION

5 L.P.R.A. § 1681. Liens.

- (a) Any expense incurred to provide minimal care to a seized animal shall constitute a lien on the animal and the costs of such care shall be paid in full by the custodian before the animal is returned to him/her after having been found not guilty or after criminal charges have been dismissed. If the costs are not paid in full within thirty (30) days after the criminal case has been resolved, the legal custody of the seized animal by the custodian shall be immediately transferred to the agency or person who has custody, which shall take steps for its possible adoption. The costs of providing care to the animal shall continue to be the responsibility of the custodian against whom the agency or person with custody may bring a civil action for collection of money owed.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1684. Compensation Fund.

The moneys originating from the fines shall be deposited into a special fund that shall be administered by the OECA, to be distributed among municipal shelters to provide direct animal care services.

33 L.P.R.A. § 4689. Restitution.

The penalty of restitution consists of the court imposed obligation to compensate the victim for the damages and losses caused to his/her person or property as a consequence of the crime. The penalty of restitution does not include suffering and mental anguish.

The court may order that the penalty of restitution be compensated in money, through the rendering of services, the delivery of the illegally appropriated property or the equivalent, if the property is not available.

If the penalty of restitution is compensated in money, the sum thereof shall be established by the court taking into consideration the following: the total amount of damages to be restored, the allocated participation of the convicted person if there were several perpetrators of the criminal act, the convicted person's ability to pay and all other elements that allow an adequate adjustment to the circumstances of the case and the condition of the convicted person.

The penalty of restitution shall be paid immediately. Nevertheless, at the request of the sentenced person and at the discretion of the court, taking into consideration the financial situation of the convict, it may be paid in full or in installments within a reasonable term after the date on which the sentence becomes effective.

- (1) Should the entity be found guilty, in addition to the punishments that apply pursuant to this Act, the person who owns the entity thus found guilty may not engage in any animal affairs.

5 L.P.R.A. § 1681. Liens.

- (a) Any expense incurred to provide minimal care to a seized animal shall constitute a lien on the animal and the costs of such care shall be paid in full by the custodian before the animal is returned to him/her after having been found not guilty or after criminal charges have been dismissed. If the costs are not paid in full within thirty (30) days after the criminal case has been resolved, the legal custody of the seized animal by the custodian shall be immediately transferred to the agency or person who has custody, which shall take steps for its possible adoption. The costs of providing care to the animal shall continue to be the responsibility of the custodian against whom the agency or person with custody may bring a civil action for collection of money owed.
